Newly-Elected Honorary Members in the Association

On March 28, 1958, the President of the Association read the following citations for honorary membership in the Association. The occasion was the Second General Session of the Sixty-third Annual Meeting in Chicago.

GEORGE EZRA CARROTHERS

George Ezra Carrothers, prototype of sturdy American citizenship, Christian gentleman and steadfast educator, unwavering adherent to the high code which personal and professional integrity prescribes, your productive life grew out of the disciplines of an austere childhood unmarked by easy financial security as the son of a rural teacher in the early schools of Indiana. You have achieved an enviable position in the annals of the North Central Association, having served it for more than a score of years in offices of increasing importance which culminated in the national chairmanship of the Committee on the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards whose Criteria are now used for the benefit of secondary education the country over. But, eminent as you have been in the councils of this Association, in the scale of human values your private beneficences to needy students, the extent of which you only know, and your spiritual support of the wavering and discouraged, which continue to this very day, transcend all your other achievements. You unqualifiedly merit the distinction of Honorary Membership in the North Central Association which it is proud to confer upon you.

GEORGE E. HILL

George E. Hill has made a distinguished contribution to the teacher education activities of the Commission on Research and Service. He served as a coordinator for the Committee on Liberal Arts Education from 1945 until 1948, at which time he was asked by the Committee on Institutions for Teacher Education to organize and direct its cooperative study. In this capacity, he directed summer workshops, served as editor of the Teacher Education Bulletin, acted as consultant for many colleges, organized intercollegiate conferences, and set up cooperative research studies.

During the past year, Dr. Hill served as editor and co-author of the book Improving Teacher Education Through Inter-College Cooperation, summarizing a decade of achievement through the project of the Committee on Institutions for Teacher Education, and pointing the way toward better intercollege cooperation in the future. Through these many contributions, Dr. Hill has made a permanent and important impact on the teacher education movement of America.

REES HOPKINS HUGHES

Rees Hopkins Hughes was born in Fort Scott, Kansas, educated at Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas (A.B.), and Teachers College, Columbia University (A.M.). He has had a varied and distinquished career as school teacher, principal, superintendent, college faculty member, and President of Kansas State Teachers College at Pittsburg. He has been active in various professional organizations. In recognition of his outstanding service in the field of education, Washburn University conferred on him the honorary LL.D. degree.

Dr. Hughes' service to the North Central Association has been of an exceptionally high order. As examiner, consultant, member of the Board of Review and the Commission on Colleges and Universities, and later Chairman of that body, he has contributed importantly to the advancement of education in North Central Association territory.

PAUL CLARE REINERT, S.J.

Paul Clare Reinert was born in Boulder, Colorado, and educated at Saint Louis University (A.B. and A.M.), and the University of Chicago (Ph.D.). He has had a notably successful career as college and university teacher and administrator, most recently as President of Saint Louis University. Saint Ambrose College and Xavier University have honored him with LL.D. degrees.

In spite of the heavy demands placed upon him by the many organizations and programs in which he plays an active part he has given generously of his time and energy to the North Central Association. Few men can equal his contribution to the effectiveness of this organization as examiner, consultant, member and Chairman of the Board of Review and the Commission on Colleges and Universities, Vice-President and President of the Association.

CARL G. F. FRANZEN

Carl G. F. Franzen has distinguished himself in many positions in the long history of accreditation by the North Central Association and there are few individuals who have contributed more to directing the policies of the Secondary Commission. During the past one-third of a century, Dr. Franzen has held many offices, having served as Chairman of the Indiana State Committee and Chairman of the Secondary Commission. He has served on numerous committees and was Chairman of the Committee to Revise Standards, and the Report Forms Committee.

He was a member of the first team on accreditation of the American Dependents' Schools in Europe, and published a research paper on "Dates of original accreditation of member schools in all member states." Dr. Franzen recently completed a two-year educational assignment in Thailand. He unqualifiedly merits the distinction of Honorary Membership in the North Central Association, which it is proud to confer upon him.

CHARLES W. BOARDMAN, Secretary

Report of the Secretary of the Association*

MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: I would like to talk with you this morning about some of the basic aspects of our Association.

We meet here annually. We have many groups working during the year. We have committees meeting and all sorts of other agencies working in our very large organization. Our Association could not exist, it could not do the work it is doing, if the keystone upon which it is founded were not cooperation. It is because we can work together that we are able to accomplish things.

At different times, questions have arisen as to whether some branch of our Association was gaining undue influence. This has given the Executive Committee very serious concern during the last two years. That Committee has given a good deal of attention to ways by which we might grow closer together, and be better informed as to what is going on. That concern finally has resulted in the appointment of the Long-Range Planning Committee.

The function of this Committee is to study the work of the Association, to consider issues and problems that arise, and to make proposals for growth, or for reorganization, if it seems desirable, and for new lines of endeavor.

It is important that we keep reaching out toward the frontier; otherwise, we will soon be dragging our feet in another direction. The lines of endeavor which we have been developing will be lost and we will not be able to get the support from powerful agencies which thus far we have been very successful in obtaining.

At this point may I add one other thing? One of the greatest difficulties in our Association is communication. I can readily remember when I first came to this Association some years ago. I didn't know anything about it and neither did any other person present for the first time. There is a great need to become informed about the various kinds of activities which are going on, about proposals that are made. There is a need to feel that we really are having a voice in the direction of the Association.

The Long-Range Planning Committee was created to consider these problems. This Committee came into being at the Executive Committee's meeting in October, 1957. It consists of a small group of men very carefully selected because of their acquaintance with the Association and their knowledge of the things we are trying to do. The belief is that they are men who can point the way for us to consider. No one is appointed to this Committee because he holds office. The Committee represents the body politic of our Association—people like us who want to be informed.

This Committee has had one meeting. This week it submitted a report to the Executive Committee. Discussion of this report occupied the major part of one meeting of the Executive Committee and a considerable amount of the second one. The tentative proposals of the Planning Committee are not yet ready to present to the Association.

Let me go back to my first statement. Our great difficulty is communication. We are willing to cooperate. But to get to know what is going on and how it is being carried on is a difficult thing, and it takes quite a little effort to bring it about. Various means have been used to solve this problem. There are publications that go out to the certain sub-bodies of our Association. In addition, we have a publication called The NCA Today which attempts to summarize many activities. All of these publications, however, do not quite reach the goal that the Executive Committee is concerned with, namely, comprehensive communication—one of the most important issues in our Association. It is going to take much thought to reach effectively the 4,000 institutions which are members of our Association.

I would like, as illustrations of the kinds of things we are doing, to take some aspects of our Association and discuss them to some degree. There are so many things that it is just impossible to cover the whole field. All one can do is to describe some aspects.

As one means of trying to get better information about the Association, about our membership, about teachers in high schools and colleges, and to help them know more about this Association, the Public Relations Committee is developing a film which will show the nature of the activities of our Association and emphasize the Association as a whole. This organization has been working since last winter to develop this film. At the meeting of the Public Relations Committee on Tuesday evening, they came in with a report which looks good. We shall be able some time next fall to have a film for use in schools, in colleges, in P.T.A.'s, in luncheon clubs, and in other civic and commercial organizations. This film will be short, probably about twenty minutes, but it is our hope that it will clearly reveal the nature of the Association.

Commission on Colleges and Universities.—This body has been working on several plans for the reorganization of its work and structure. The basic emphasis in that reorganization is to get the whole Commission concerned with its activities.

I was greatly interested the early part of this week in the number of persons concerned when this Commission had groups meeting all day long, trying to solve problems and to find ways to do certain things. All one has to do is to look at the front pages of the current annual program to get some idea of these activities and recognize that in all of them large numbers were at work. It was not a committee forum. These would be twenty, thirty, or forty persons in each of the different meetings working together on the activities of the Commission.

One of the Commission's most interesting projects is the development of the Leadership Training Program. This is an effort to educate young men to be consultants in self-studies by colleges and universities. May I remark, in parentheses, that this is one of the biggest changes that has taken place in the Association in the last ten or fifteen years. The Commission has Foundation support for this project. Certain colleges are cooperatively helping these men learn how to do better the things which the Commission is interested in toward improving its member institutions. It is one of the most significant movements that have ever occurred in the Association. As a consequence, I look forward to very great changes for the betterment of higher education.

Commission on Secondary Schools.—For a long time the basic units of this Commission, the State Committees, have been working in the various states on problems relating to high schools and, more and more, it has been trying to develop an effective program of that character. One of the interesting things that the Commission is doing is the revision of its Policies, Regulations and Criteria. These are the bases upon which institutions are admitted to membership in the Association. There has been much criticism of them. But they are so much better than they were in the twenties, the thirties, and the forties, that if one looked at the former situation, he wouldn't recognize it at all in contemporary criteria. The Commission is revising these criteria in such a way that institutions may be compared more definitely on a uniform basis and so that high schools will be equably compared in terms of the education which youth should receive to meet their inevitable needs.

There is an interesting possibility connected with this project. I heard it mentioned this week for the first time; namely, that perhaps we ought to think about the elementary schools, as we do about the secondary schools. Whether anything will evolve or not along this line, it is interesting to note that some thought is being given to expanding the work of the Association to get at the earlier levels. In the educational scheme, the importance of the elementary schools is obvious; the curriculum doesn't stop at any grade level. It is a continuum.

I think while I am mentioning this particular project it would be wise to mention again the forty-one Dependents' Schools. They are, as you know, in foreign lands. They are supported by the military forces for the boys and girls of service-related personnel. Not all schools of this type are accredited, for they must meet the standards for admission to membership in the North Central Association.

The accredited schools are located in eleven different countries—Germany, France, England, Spain, Italy, Turkey, Morocco, Japan, the Philippines, Guam, and the Canal Zone. They guarantee that boys and girls of American parentage can have an American education. Actually, they have very excellent teachers because they are selected very carefully. Each year there is some turn-over such as any high school experiences. But there is a continual flow of teachers from the States as replacements—persons of experience and education who meet the standards of this Association.

At the present time these schools employ 804 teachers and enroll over 10,000 students. It is a gigantic undertaking and a very important one. These boys and girls could not be admitted to American colleges if it were not for this program.

It so happened that when this particular institution, the Dependents' Schools, was developed, I was Chairman of the Commission on Secondary Schools, and I remember very well when the proposal came to do something for the children of Service-related families. At that time—1946 or thereabouts—we thought, "Oh, this won't last." Actually, the accreditation of such schools has grown steadily and there is no sign that it is going to decrease. It is one of the best programs of cooperation that we have.

Commission on Research and Service.—Here is an institution that is constantly engaged in trying to do something about curriculum and methods through diversified research. My office carries a considerable number of reprints of their publications which have appeared in THE QUARTERLY as well as in other publications. We frequently receive orders for enough copies to distribute to an entire faculty group; in other words these reprints are widely used.

Last year the Commission developed a bulletin, Better Education for Nonacademic Pupils. The demand for this publication is so heavy that our supply is nearly exhausted.

The Foreign Affairs Project, which was started by this Commission several years ago, has been very well subsidized by the Ford Foundation. This project consists of experimental activities designed to aid the teaching of problems in foreign affairs at the high school level. You know that it is difficult to teach current world happenings. The Commission has printed five bulletins in this project: Our American Foreign Policy, Our Changing German Problems, The Chinese Dilemma, American Policy and the Soviet Challenge, and America's Role in the Middle East. I have no knowledge of how many thousands of bulletins have been used by the approximately three hundred schools cooperating in the study. They spread beyond the boundaries of the Association. Every regional accrediting association is represented. Two or three additional bulletins will be published before the study terminates.

Last summer thirty-five conferences of teachers engaged in this project were held. Possible improvements were discussed and achievements evaluated.

You have just heard about a new project, publicly announced for the first time this week by the Committee on Articulation of High Schools and Colleges. Under a grant of $174,000 by the Carnegie Corporation, the Committee will attempt to identify bright children and find ways of motivating them. The timeliness of such an undertaking should be apparent to everybody.

This Committee, a sub-group of the Commission on Research and Service, will not try to develop a standard program. Schools will be asked to develop their own under the guidance of this Committee. At present, interest centers in the junior and senior years, but the expectation is to reach into the lower grades as well.

I am not going to take any more time this morning to describe the activities of our Association. The things I have mentioned are significant. I close with a question and an observation: Where can one find the great numbers of public school and private school people working together to do such things as I have described except in the North Central Association? Our influence is nationwide, and as partners in effort and achievement we can really be proud of the fact that our schools are members of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Proceedings of the Commission on Colleges and Universities

I. REPORT OF THE COMMISSION

THE 1958 BUSINESS SESSIONS of the Commission on Colleges and Universities differed somewhat from the sessions a year ago in that they were shortened by one day. In general, however, the procedure was the same as that followed in the past two years.

On Monday, March 24, the Commissioners met as members of committees representing different types of institutions: junior colleges, Bachelor's degree-granting institutions, and Master's and Doctor's degree-granting institutions. These committees studied the reports of examining teams which had visited the campuses of institutions being considered by the Commission, and conferred with the chairmen of the several teams and with representatives of the institutions. The recommendations of the committees were then submitted to the Board of Review which met on Tuesday morning, afternoon, and evening.

The Commission held an open meeting on Tuesday afternoon, March 25. At this session the Secretary of the Commission reported on a number of items relating to the ongoing program of the Commission. Among these were the Leadership Training Project, the revision of the Manual of Accrediting, the survey of current trends, the program of revisitation of member institutions, new developments in the National Commission on Accrediting, and the conference of generalists.

Tuesday evening, March 25, the five District Committees met for dinner and to make nominations for vacancies on each of the committees. These nominations were later forwarded to the Nominating Committee for its consideration in preparing a list of nominations to fill vacancies on the Commission.

The Commission met in executive session Wednesday morning, March 26, from 9:00 to 10:00 o'clock to hear the recommendations of the committees by type of institution and of the Board of Review relative to accreditation matters. The following actions were taken:

The Commission recommended that the following junior colleges be accredited:

Donnelly College, Kansas City, Kansas
Ft. Lewis Agricultural and Mechanical College, Durango, Colorado
Hannibal-LaGrange College, Hannibal, Missouri
Vincennes University, Vincennes, Indiana

It also recommended that the following Bachelor's degree-granting institutions be accredited:

Adrian College, Adrian, Michigan
Dana College, Blair, Nebraska
Edgewood College of the Sacred Heart, Madison, Wisconsin
Kansas Wesleyan University, Salina, Kansas
Morris Harvey College, Charleston, West Virginia
Ohio Northern University, Ada, Ohio
Panhandle Agricultural and Mechanical College, Goodwell, Oklahoma
College of St. Mary, Omaha, Nebraska
St. Procopius College, Lisle, Illinois
Sioux Falls College, Sioux Falls, South Dakota

The Commission recommended no change in the accredited status of colleges and universities not mentioned in this report. This includes a number of member institutions whose programs were reviewed this year but whose accredited status was not changed as a result of the review.

Following its executive session, the Commission met in open session at 10:30 A.M. to hear a number of reports of committees. The first of these was that of the Committee on Off-Campus Programs. Some time ago the Board of Review had become concerned with the rapid increase in the number of institutions setting up instructional programs at centers removed from their own campuses and with the importance of maintaining quality in these programs. In 1956 the Board appointed a committee to study the matter and charged it with drawing up a "statement of policy outlining with some specificity the needs for staffing, facilities, and financing in order to insure that such programs are carried out under the most favorable circumstances." After a number of meetings and some field work the Committee developed the report which was submitted on recommendation of the Board of Review to the Commission for approval at this meeting. The report gives careful consideration to the definition of the problem and the function of off-campus instruction; to the administration, supervision, and staffing of such programs; to admission, academic requirements and student personnel services; to physical facilities; and to financing. The report concludes with a statement outlining the procedures to be followed in the accreditation of such programs. The Commission voted to approve the statement as presented.

The second report considered by the Commission was that of a committee appointed to study the problem of evaluating graduate programs in Education. At the Annual Meeting of the Association in 1956 the Commission approved a statement of policy on "Programs of Post-Baccalaureate Study for Teachers Leading to the Master's Degree." Since that time post-baccalaureate work in Education has rapidly expanded beyond the Master's degree level into sixth-year programs. This further vertical extension of graduate work in Education has taken two forms: One is designed for the preparation of classroom teachers; the other is designed for the preparation of specialized workers in Education such as curriculum consultants, business managers, and school librarians, and frequently leads to the degree of "Specialist in Education." The report of the Committee is divided into two parts. The first is a statement of policy for the guidance of institutions developing graduate programs for the preparation of classroom teachers and for the guidance of the Commission in evaluating such programs. The second is a similar statement directed to the problem of preparing educational specialists. Each statement treats the important problems involved in the development of the particular program, such as the nature of the curriculum, the financing of the program, and the kind of staff required. The first part of this statement supplants the earlier statement of policy entitled, "Programs of Post-Baccalaureate Study for Teachers Leading to the Master's Degree." The Commission voted to approve the report.

The third report was that of the Committee on Specialized Institutions and Programs. This committee was appointed a year ago to examine two problems. One is that of accrediting specialized institutions which up to now have not been able to qualify for membership in the Association because of the lack of a core of general education in their curriculums. The other problem is that faced by the Association when a member institution extends its offerings from one degree level to the next in a specialized professional field. The report of the Committee calls for a broadening of the eligibility base by making a specialized institution eligible if it includes within its own curricular offerings a core of general education or requires the student to complete such work in another accredited institution. The report also provides for the use of examiners with a knowledge of specialized fields and describes how the accreditation of specialized programs within member institutions is to be approached. The Commission approved the report.

For some time it has been apparent that the functions of the Board of Review have developed far beyond the earlier and simpler function of reviewing the cases of institutions under consideration for accreditation. The manifold interests of the Commission now involve the Board in a wide variety of special projects and concerns. For this reason it seemed that the title of the Board of Review should be changed to one which would more accurately reflect the nature of its function, so the Board recommended to the Commission that its name be changed to the "Executive Board" of the Commission. The Board voted to recommend to the Association that the Constitution of the Association be changed accordingly.[1]

The Constitution of the Association has included a provision requiring a member institution wishing to undertake an educational experiment first to obtain the approval of the Commission and the Executive Committee of the Association. Because the Commission now encourages educational experimentation generally among the membership, this provision is no longer appropriate. The Board of Review recommended to the Commission, therefore, the deletion of this provision (paragraph 6, Section 4, Article IV) from the Constitution, and the Commission voted to recommend this change to the Association.[1]

The Board of Review a year ago asked the Secretary's office to attempt the formulation of a statement of policy governing the conduct of intercollegiate athletics in member institutions. The first draft of the statement has been presented to the Board of Review, but further consideration is needed before the statement is ready for presentation to the Commission.

[1] These amendments were approved by the Association on March 28, 1958.

II. STATEMENT OF POLICY RELATIVE TO THE ACCREDITING OF INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION[1]

Introduction

This statement of policy defines certain principles that will be followed in accrediting institutions of higher education. It is stated in general terms and includes brief descriptions of those characteristics of an institution that will be examined as a basis of accreditment.

This statement of policy is supplemented by a manual which contains elaborations of the statements here given and detailed directions for the execution of the policy here set forth. Upon each important issue the Manual contains specific directions for the collection of information and such norms and criteria as will make possible a fair and intelligent evaluation of an institution.

MEMBERSHIP

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will accredit and admit to membership as an institution of higher education a university, college, junior college, or institution of similar character that is judged to be of acceptable quality in matters later defined in this statement of principles. In the interpretation of this policy the liberty to integrate the whole or a part of a secondary school with a higher institution will be permitted.

Eligibility for membership will be based upon the character of an institution as a whole, including all the units within its organization. In the case of units, such as professional schools, that fall within the areas of other accrediting agencies, the actions of such accrediting agencies will be taken into account; but the Association does not bind itself to accept the judgment of these agencies.

PURPOSES OF ACCREDITING

The purposes of the Association in accrediting higher institutions are as follows:

1. To describe the characteristics of institutions worthy of public recognition as institutions of higher education
2. To guide prospective students in the choice of an institution of higher education that will meet their needs
3. To serve individual institutions as a guide in interinstitutional relationships, such as the trans-

[1] This statement of policy is currently undergoing extensive revision.

fer of students, the conduct of intercollegiate student activities, the placement of college graduates, and the selection of college faculties

4. To assist secondary schools in the selection of teachers and in advising students as to a choice of institutions, and to promote in any other ways the co-ordination of secondary and higher education
5. To stimulate through its accrediting practices the improvement of higher education in the territory of the North Central Association

BASES OF ACCREDITING

An institution will be judged for accreditment upon the basis of the total pattern it presents as an institution of higher education. While institutions will be judged in terms of each of the characteristics noted in this statement of policy, it is recognized that wide variations will appear in the degree of excellence attained. It is accepted as a principle of procedure that superiority in some characteristic may be regarded as compensating, to some extent, for deficiencies in other respects. The facilities and activities of an institution will be judged in terms of the purposes it seeks to serve.

ELIGIBLE INSTITUTIONS

To be considered by the Association an institution must be incorporated as a nonprofit corporation devoted primarily to educational purposes and legally authorized to confer collegiate degrees, or to offer a definitely described portion of a curriculum leading to such a degree, or to offer curriculums leading to an academic certificate. As a condition of eligibility, an institution must include among its major functions the provision of general education as defined in the Manual. An approved institution is not barred from offering curriculums terminating at the end of one, two, or three years if they are taught at the level of collegiate instruction. The curriculum should presuppose the completion of a secondary-school curriculum as a condition for entrance to the institution, or secondary courses should be so integrated with the curriculum of the institution itself as to guarantee the educational progress of students to a definite stage of advancement beyond the completion of the usual secondary-school offering. Before an institution will be considered for accreditment, it must have been in operation long enough to make possible an evaluation of its program.

INDIVIDUALITY OF INSTITUTIONS

In its accrediting procedures the Association intends, within the general patterns of higher education, to observe such principles as will preserve whatever desirable individual qualities member institutions may have. While it is necessary to emphasize certain characteristics that are recognized as basic, such as the competence of the faculty, the representative character of the curriculum, effective administration, standards of student accomplishment, and financial adequacy, it is regarded as of prime importance also to protect such institutional variations as appear to be educationally sound. Even in these basic matters it is clear that considerable divergence from average or optimum conditions may occur without perceptibly detracting from the essential educational worth of an institution. Uniformity in every detail of institutional policies and practices is believed to be not only unnecessary but undesirable. Well-conceived experiments aimed to improve educational processes are considered essential to the growth of higher institutions and will be encouraged.

PUBLISHED LIST OF ACCREDITED INSTITUTIONS

The Association will publish one list of accredited institutions of higher education. Attached to the name of each institution in the list will be notations relative to such objective facts as are pertinent to a description of the characteristics of an institution.

CONTINUING REVISION OF POLICY AND PROCEDURES

The effect of this program of accrediting upon the welfare of institutions is the vital matter in its formulation and adoption.

Continuous study leading to adjustment and improvement is accepted as necessary to the full fruitage of the plan and will be considered an integral part of the regular accrediting activities of the Association. It shall be the policy of the Commission to study the operation of the principles given in this statement of policy and of the detailed procedures described in the Manual.

In pursuit of this policy there will be collected periodically from member institutions such information as will contribute to the procedures of accrediting and will reveal the changing character of these institutions.

Criteria of Institutional Excellence

I. PURPOSES AND CLIENTELE

Recognition will be given to the fact that the purposes of higher education are varied and that a particular institution may devote itself to a limited group of objectives and ignore others, except that no institution will be accredited that does not include among its major functions the provision of general education.

Every institution that applies for accreditment will offer a definition of its purposes that will include the following items:

1. A statement of its objectives in general education
2. A statement of the occupational objectives, if any, for which it offers training
3. A statement of its objectives in individual development of students, including health and physical competence

This statement of purposes must be accompanied by a statement of the institution's clientele showing the geographical area, the governmental unit, or the religious groups from which it draws students and from which financial support is derived.

The facilities and activities of an institution will be judged in terms of the purposes it seeks to serve.

II. FACULTY

An institution should have a competent faculty, organized for effective service, and working under satisfactory conditions.

In determining the competence of the faculty, consideration will be given to the amount and kind of education that the individual members have received, to their experience in educational work, and to their scholarship as evidenced by scholarly publications and contact with learned societies. Attention will be given to the faculty requirements implied by the purposes of the institution. The educational qualifications of faculties in colleges of similar type will be considered in judging the competence of a faculty.

Under faculty organization consideration will be given to the number of the faculty in ratio to the number of students, to representation of the teaching fields, to the training of instructors in their fields of instruction, to group organization of the faculty, to faculty meetings, and to faculty committees.

Under satisfactory working conditions consideration will be given to the following: salary status; tenure; instructional load; recruiting, selection, and appointment; aids to faculty growth; and provisions for leaves of absence, retirement, insurance, housing, and recreation and community life.

III. CURRICULUM

The curriculum of an institution should contain the subject-matter offerings implied by its statement of objectives. These offerings will include provisions for general education, advanced courses when the purposes of an institution require such offerings, and special courses appropriate to the specific objectives which the institution claims as among its functions.

An institution should provide appropriate facilities for general education unless, as may be the case in a particular institution, its program presupposes the completion of an adequate program of general education at the collegiate level prior to entrance.

The organization of the curriculum should be such as will best serve students of the type whose admission is implied by the declared purposes of the institution. Responsibility for the grouping of curriculum content, as by courses, departments, or divisions, will lie with institutions. The merit of a curriculum organization will be judged primarily by the manner in which it functions.

The curriculum of an institution will be regarded as effective only when the faculty includes instructors competent by reason of educational preparation to offer instruction in announced courses.

The institution should be able to show clearly that the curriculum as described in published statements is effectively administered in the case of individual students and that there is reasonable adherence to stated requirements in the awarding of degrees and certificates of progress.

IV. INSTRUCTION

An institution will be expected to show a sympathetic concern for the quality of instruction offered students and to give evidence of efforts to make instruction effective. Consideration will be given to the emphasis placed by the institution upon teaching competence in the selection and promotion of teachers, to the manner in which young instructors are inducted into teaching activities, to the aids that are provided as stimuli to the growth of individual members of the staff, to the institution's concern for high scholarship in students, to its emphasis upon the adjustment of the curriculum and teaching procedures to the abilities and interests of students, to efforts to make such examinations as are given more reliable and more accurate measures of student accomplishment, and to the alertness of the faculty to the instructional needs of students. Familiarity of the administration and faculty with current discussions of instructional problems at the college level and with recent experimental studies of college problems are further evidences of institutional alertness to the need for good college teaching.

V. LIBRARY

The library should provide the reading facilities needed to make the educational program effective, and there should be evidence that such facilities are appropriately used.

In estimating the adequacy of the library, attention will be given to the holdings of standard works of general and special reference, to the holdings of magazines and periodicals, and to the number and variety of books. The use of the library by students and by the faculty, library expenditures over a period of years, the salaries of the library staff, the qualifications of the staff, and the administrative practices relating to the library will all be considered in this connection.

VI. STUDENT PERSONNEL SERVICE

The policy of an institution in admitting students should be determined, on the one hand, by the purposes of the institution and, on the other, by the abilities, interests, and previous preparation of applicants. An institution should admit only those students whose educational interests are in harmony with the purposes of the institution and whose abilities and previous preparation qualify them to pursue the studies to which they are admitted.

The student personnel service of an institution should assist students to analyze and understand their problems and to adjust themselves to the life and work of the institution.

In evaluating the practices of an institution in the induction of students, attention will be given to the provision for preregistration guidance in cooperation with secondary schools, to the criteria used in the selection of students, to the administration of the stated entrance requirements, and to the arrangements for introducing new students to the life and work of the institution.

Consideration will be given to the means employed by an institution to assist students in the selection of courses and curriculums, in solving immediate academic problems, in furthering their scholastic development, and in making suitable vocational choices and preparation. Attention will also be given to the practices of an institution in counseling students about their health, their financial affairs, and their intimate personal affairs. The student's relation to extra-curriculum activities will also be studied. The practices of an institution in the provision and control of health services, in the housing and boarding of students, in the management of extra-curriculum activities, in the control of student conduct, and in financial assistance to students will be considered.

VII. ADMINISTRATION

The administrative organization should be suitable for accomplishing the objectives of the institution. Adequate provision should be made for the performance of all administrative functions by a personnel competent in their respective lines of activity.

In evaluating the administration of an institution, the emphasis will be placed upon the manner in which the functions are performed rather than upon the organization or the personnel, although the suitability of the organization and the competence of the personnel cannot be ignored. Attention will be given to such matters as the constitution and activities of the board of control; the general system of administrative control; the administration of academic matters, such as curriculum, faculty personnel, and instruction; the business administration, including financial accounting, budgeting, purchasing, the collection of revenues, and the supervision of the finances of student activities; the administration of the physical plant; the management of invested funds, if any; the administration of the student personnel service; the administration of special educational activities, if any, such as summer sessions or extension services; and the system of records and reports.

VIII. FINANCE

The institution should provide evidence of financial resources adequate for and effectively applied to the support of its educational program.

The items of information to be considered in determining the adequacy of the financial support are the expenditure per student for educational purposes; the stability of the financing, as indicated by the amount of income per student from stable sources, and the avoidance of burdensome indebtedness; and the procedures in financial accounting and reporting. Necessary adjustments will be allowed for contributed services of instructors and administrative officers in Catholic institutions.

IX. PHYSICAL PLANT

The physical plant, comprising grounds, buildings, and equipment, should be adequate for the efficient conduct of the educational program and should contribute effectively to the realization of the accepted objectives of the institution.

In judging the plant, consideration will be given to the adequacy and effectiveness of such features as site; general type of buildings; service systems; classrooms, laboratories, and other facilities appropriate to the special purposes of the institution; office facilities; library building; facilities for health service, recreation, and athletics; dormitories; auditoriums; assembly rooms; and the operation and care of the plant.

X. INSTITUTIONAL STUDY

An institution should continuously study its policies and procedures with a view to their improvement and should provide evidence that such useful studies are regularly made.

Consideration will be given to the means used by the institution in the investigation of its own problems, to the nature of the problems selected for study, to the staff making studies, to the methods employed, to the attitude of the administration toward and the support given to such studies, and to the manner in which the results are made available to the faculty, the administrative staff, and the interested clientele. It is recognized that such studies may be of many sorts, ranging from small inquiries of immediate service value to elaborately conducted experimental investigations. They may deal with any phase of the work of an institution, such as administration, curriculum, student personnel service, instruction, or any other matter of immediate or remote concern to the institution. An institution will be requested to provide typed or printed copies of completed studies.

Operation of the Accrediting Procedure

An institution considering accreditation should communicate in advance with the Office of the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities. This office will provide full information about the accrediting procedure, including the self-survey requirement, the consideration of the self-survey report by the Executive Board, the arrangements for a visit by an examining committee, and the handling of the examiners' report.

FUNCTIONS OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD

The Executive Board is the executive committee of the Commission on Colleges and Universities. It acts upon the application of an institution for accreditation and reports its decisions to the Commission on Colleges and Universities, which in turn makes its recommendations to the Executive Committee of the Association. Action so taken is final except that an institution may appeal to the Executive Committee of the Association.

In the performance of its functions the Executive Board will receive from the Secretary the formal reports of institutions, authorize surveys, appoint examiners, receive through the Secretary the reports of examiners and such additional information as he may lay before them, give full and impartial consideration to such reports, and take appropriate action thereon.

At the annual meeting the Executive Board will report its actions, through the Secretary, to the Commission on Colleges and Universities and to the Executive Committee of the Association for acceptance, rejection, or modification, and later it will report to each applying institution the action taken upon its application. At the close of each annual meeting the Secretary will authorize the list of accredited institutions for publication.

FUNCTIONS OF THE EXAMINERS

Each institution applying for accreditation will be visited by examiners whose stay shall be long enough to enable them to form an estimate of the character of the institution and to determine the merit of its application. The examining team will include at least one member from an accredited institution of the same general type (e.g., junior college, teachers college, liberal arts college of simple organization, an institution of complex organization, etc.) as the institution being examined. Examiners will be selected in the light of special circumstances that may relate to the local situation. They will be informed on the nature of the institution being examined and on any special aspects involving public relations.

Before visiting an institution, the examiners will make a study of the schedules collected by the Secretary and will note any items that need verification or amplification at the institution. Upon each important issue involved, this Manual contains comparative data, examples of practice, or other criteria by means of which the data on the schedules can be evaluated.

The examiner's duties at the institution will be as follows:

1. To check the accuracy with which the schedules have been completed
2. To discuss with administrative officers and with the faculty the implications of the available data and such characteristics of the institution as are not covered in the schedules
3. To gather through conferences with staff members and students such additional facts and impressions as will complete the examiner's knowledge of the quality of the institution

When two or more examiners join in the examination of an institution, as will be the customary procedure, they will naturally divide the work of inspection, in order that the time may be shortened and the work more thoroughly done. This method also provides that two or more competent judgments instead of one will be available for the guidance of the Executive Board.

Experience has shown that time is usually saved and a better understanding of the relations of the administrative officers to one another obtained if the inspectors hold a conference at the beginning of the survey with the president and the chief administrative officers. This meeting may then be followed by the conferences with the individual administrative officers.

INTERVIEW WITH THE PRESIDENT

The examiner's visit to an institution should be so timed as to meet the convenience of the administration. Ordinarily the first person approached in an institution will be the president. He and his administrative associates should be able to verify, as may be desired, the information given on the schedules, to answer any questions that have arisen in the minds of the examiners when the schedules were examined, to provide such additional information as may be desired, and to indicate what other officers may provide information not available in the president's office.

Some of the particular matters that should be discussed with the head of the institution follow:

1. The purposes of the institution
2. The selection, appointment, and promotion of members of the faculty
3. The records kept by the institution concerning the qualifications and activities of faculty members
4. The quality of the present faculty—the areas in which it is strong or weak
5. The organization of the institution and the administrative units such as schools, colleges, and departments. Particular inquiry should be made as to how essential administrative functions are performed
6. The organization of the faculty, officers, committees, faculty units, and methods of function in meetings
7. The sources and character of the student body
8. The curriculum of the institution—its character, its adequacy, and its relation to the purposes of the institution
9. Instruction in the institution and methods of its improvement
10. The personnel of the board of trustees
11. The functions performed by the board and its committees
12. The degree to which the board has authority to make final decisions affecting the institution
13. The extent to which interested groups of the constituency influence the affairs of the institution in ways other than through the regularly constituted officials of the institution
14. The relation of the board to its executive officer
15. The type of the administrative organization, both in theory and in actual practice, and the smoothness with which the administrative system operates
16. The adequacy of the number of administrative officers
17. The qualifications of the various subordinate staff members in the administrative offices
18. The financial policies of the institution, particularly as they relate to the increasing development of stable sources of revenue for the support of the academic program
19. The general athletic situation, and its bearing on the instructional and financial program of the institution
20. The plans for the development of the physical plant, including plans with respect to features in which improvements, renovations, or additions are needed
21. The budgetary system, including methods of preparing the budget, the manner in which it is presented to the board for consideration, and the control of budget expenditures
22. The plan for managing invested funds, if any
23. The types of special educational activities maintained, such as summer session and extension activities; the reason for the maintenance of such features; and the policy with respect to their financing
24. The system of reports, including such matters as the president's annual report, the treasurer's annual report, reports of deans and department or division heads
25. Plans for fostering investigation and study of institutional problems
26. Institutional policies and practices in student personnel work

This interview should give the head of the institution an opportunity to interpret and evaluate the educational quality of his institution. He should express his judgment as to its strengths and weaknesses, its special contribution to the national structure of higher education, its needs, and lines of future growth and improvement.

INTERVIEW WITH THE DEAN

Although the functions of college deans vary from one institution to another, they normally relate to the faculty, to the curriculum, to instruction, and to student problems. In the case of a particular institution the examiner will already have some information, and more will have been gained from the interview with the president. In interviewing the dean, an effort should be made to discover the administrative activities of the dean; his relations to students; to the recruiting, appointment, and promotion of the faculty; to the organization, direction, and control of the faculty; to the curriculum and instruction; and also to other administrative officers, such as the president, the registrar, the business manager, and other deans. This interview should afford the dean the opportunity to reveal his judgment of the educational quality of his institution, his grasp of significant educational problems, and his awareness of current issues in higher education.

INTERVIEW WITH THE REGISTRAR

The chief aim of the interview with the registrar should be to verify and supplement the data submitted on the enrollment schedules and to secure such additional information regarding entrance requirements and practices, methods of registration, guidance, and enrollment as he may provide.

The registrar should give a clear explanation of his own activities and his relation to the activities of other officers, such as the president, deans, business manager, and members of the faculty. His authority and his relation to students should be clearly reported.

The examiner should examine the records of the registrar's office relating to admission, examinations, and student marks. Inquiry should be made as to the methods employed to report the progress of students to the faculty, to parents, and to the student himself.

INTERVIEW WITH BUSINESS OFFICERS

The major officer (or officers, if there are more than one) in charge of business and financial affairs should be interviewed for the purpose of verifying information regarding the financial position of the institution and obtaining information regarding the methods of conducting business affairs. The degree to which business affairs are centralized should be ascertained. The system of financial accounting should be examined to determine whether it conforms to accepted practices and whether the financial data reported are reasonably comparable with those obtained from other institutions. The system of budgetary control, the procedures used in purchasing supplies, and the plans for the collection of institutional revenue should be studied. The extent to which adequate supervision is exercised over the finances of student activities should be investigated. The plans for handling invested funds, the custody of securities, the policies relating to investments, and the distribution of investments among various types of holdings should be discussed with the proper officer. The administrative organization for the care and operation of the physical plant should be studied. The reports previously submitted with respect to such items as income, expenditure, and indebtedness should be tested by a check of original records or audits, in order to insure that all items have been properly interpreted and correctly reported.

INTERVIEW WITH THE LIBRARIAN

The interview with the librarian should have three purposes:

1. To obtain his account of the manner in which records previously submitted to the Secretary's office were prepared
2. To secure his account of the library's relation to the general administration
3. To learn of the interest taken in the library by the instructional staff as a whole and with such reference to individual departments as he may consider important

The holdings of the library should be examined by a sampling procedure to ascertain the extent to which the distribution of holdings reflects the purposes of the institution, the curriculum offerings, and the enrollment by subjects and fields. Examinations should be made of such routines as are established for the recording of information concerning student use of the library and of particular parts of the collection. It is important that the librarian be asked to state uses to which such records are put wherever their use is not obvious.

INTERVIEWS WITH STUDENT PERSONNEL OFFICERS

Included in the group of personnel officers are such individuals as the dean of men, dean of women, director of the health service, nurse, placement officer, matrons of dormitories, and the coaching staff. In consultations with these various individuals the statement of duties and administrative relationships as reported on the schedules should be verified and the attitude toward students and student problems should be determined.

Inquiry should be made relative to procedures employed in counseling students. This will be done by ascertaining from student deans and others connected with personnel work the kinds of student problems evident at the institution and the methods used to aid students in dealing with them. The effectiveness of these procedures and of the institutional agencies for student guidance of extra-curriculum activities, scholarships, loan funds, and health and placement service should be studied.

As a further basis for evaluation, the records which are kept of students' personal histories, of extra-curriculum activities, of scholarship funds, of loan funds, and of the health and placement service should be examined.

INTERVIEWS WITH STAFF MEMBERS

From the data provided in the various schedules, from suggestions direct and indirect, and from the president and deans a number of staff members should be selected for interview. At times, the examiner may meet small groups; at other times, individual interviews may be more desirable.

In staff interviews, the fundamental matters for discussion are: students, curriculum, library, and instruction; although side lights upon the administration and the tone of the institution will frequently be secured. Appropriate inquiries may be made concerning the organization of the curriculum, the need for expansion or restriction, the methods of handling students, the selection of students, the means of improving instruction, the library, and similar matters. These interviews should reveal the degree to which the faculty is aware of current trends in higher education, of the advent of new methods of student management, of the reorganization of curriculums, of the changing emphasis upon examination practices and the need for their improvement, and of the contribution of experimental studies to educational improvement. In particular, they should reveal the instructor's familiarity with teaching development in his own subject.

INTERVIEWS WITH STUDENTS

It is advisable to consult different students relative to various aspects of the institution. These conferences should be made as informal as possible during visits to fraternity and sorority houses, dormitories, the library, or other places that afford opportunities for informal contacts.

EXAMINATION OF PLANT AND INSTRUCTIONAL FACILITIES

Inspection will be made of the physical plant, including buildings, grounds, and equipment.

REPORT OF EXAMINERS

Following the survey of an institution, the examiners will file the completed schedules, scorecards, and a written report with the Secretary. This report should be based upon the schedules submitted by the institution and the additional information secured during the inspectional visit. It should express the judgment of the examiners upon the educational quality of an institution and should contain a definite recommendation as to whether the application of the institution should be approved or declined. A clear statement of the grounds for the recommendation should be given.

It is not intended that the examiner's judgment will be determined wholly by the factual data available. It is his function to evaluate these data as accurately as possible, but in his inspectional contacts he will gather numerous impressions of existing conditions of a less objective and less tangible character that have a bearing upon the character of the institution. In the light of his total knowledge and impression of the institution, it will be his duty to form a judgment of the competence of the institution as an agency for the higher education of youth. It is this composite judgment of the educational competence of an institution rather than the meticulous conformity to detailed criteria that should be the basis of the recommendation to the Executive Board.

INSTITUTIONAL PATTERN

With the abolition of standards reliance devolves upon the evaluation of an institution as a whole. To make this policy effective, it is necessary to secure accurate information concerning all institutional characteristics which contribute significantly to the character of the institution as a whole.

Individuality of Institutions

The section on individuality of institutions in the Statement of Policy does not imply that all differences are important or that all variations in institutional pattern and activity are justified. Many superficial differences have no significance in determining the educational quality of an institution. These will be disregarded in accrediting. Other departures from general practice may really detract from the educational services of an institution and justify the Association in withholding recognition. There are, however, many variations among colleges that appear to be educationally sound; it shall be the policy of the Association to foster and encourage variations of this type.

A brief statement of the areas in which such variations may occur is given here. Many of the implications of the section will be developed in the subsequent treatment of the procedures to be employed in passing judgment upon an institution. The general statements made here will be useful chiefly in suggesting the need for caution in applying general policies of accrediting to individual institutions.

DIFFERENCE OF PURPOSE

Higher education has many and diverse purposes. In some cases an institution will limit itself to a single purpose or to a limited group of purposes. Colleges of engineering, medical schools, and teachers colleges are illustrations. Accrediting methods should protect an institution in its unique purposes and encourage it to be the best possible school of its type. So long as a school adheres to a limited purpose, it should not be under pressure to become a different type of school. The expansion or modification of its curriculum, for instance, should be determined by the needs of the particular type of education to which it is committed. A change in the major purposes of an institution will constitute grounds for a re-evaluation of the institution in terms of its modified purposes.

DIFFERENCES IN STUDENT ABILITIES

Over a period of years institutions tend to attract students of a particular type. This tendency is illustrated by uniformity in the intellectual level of entering Freshmen. In this respect wide differences prevail among institutions. Overlappings are common, but central tendencies are fairly distinct, and it is evident that a given institution may minister to a body of young people who, because of differences in intellectual powers, would be out of place in certain other institutions. It is not desirable that accrediting procedures should attempt to reduce all colleges to a common intellectual standard—for instance, by fixing a minimal score on an examination as an essential condition for entrance or graduation.

The Association may legitimately expect an institution to produce evidence that the significant characteristics of its student group are known to those responsible for administration and instruction and that reasonable efforts are made to adjust the activities to the needs of the particular body of students which the institution admits. An institution, however, should not be under pressure to select a particular type of student body, except in so far as the unique purposes of the institution may require students of a particular type.

DIFFERENCES IN CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION

Inasmuch as the curriculum is merely the means by which an institution seeks to accomplish certain purposes, it is clear that curriculums cannot be the same for all institutions if purposes vary. It is legitimate to inquire whether a curriculum is consonant with announced purposes, whether it is taught by qualified instructors, and whether it is adequately supported financially and by laboratory and library facilities. Beyond such basic matters as these the institution should be free to select the content and procedures of instruction. Intimate with curriculum and instruction are standards of student achievement. The matter of such standards should remain clearly within the jurisdiction of individual institutions. What the Association will insist upon is sincerity of performance, honesty and fairness with students, and the absence of pretense that the institution is competent to perform certain functions which it is not.

DIFFERENCES IN ADMINISTRATION

Variations from the usual plans of institutional organization and administration may be justified in many cases. The competence of the administrative personnel is important, and inquiry may be made as to whether all the essential administrative functions are performed economically and in such a way as to facilitate educational purposes. Such inquiry should not operate to impose a standardized plan of administrative organization that will be exactly the same for every institution. Initiative in arranging the details of administrative organization should reside with those responsible for the conduct of the institution, although suggestions may be offered regarding plans that at present seem to be operating most effectively.

OTHER VARIATIONS

The foregoing enumeration of the areas in which the individuality of an institution should be protected is not inclusive but illustrative. Other important variations may occur in student personnel service, in the amount and sources of support, in plant, in extra-curriculum activities, and in many other matters. The crucial question concerning any such variation is: Does it further the achievement of the purposes of the institution; does it detract from such achievement; or is it merely negligible? Unless there is clear evidence that variations are harmful to the declared educational purposes of an institution, they will not be regarded unfavorably by the Association.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF VARIATION

In matters so intimately related to life as education should be, it is of the utmost importance that institutions be kept fluid and adaptable. The constant and continuous effort to improve its work through well-conceived and carefully directed educational experiments is a powerful instrument in keeping an educational institution alert and its work vital. For this reason the Association looks upon efforts at educational experiment as an evidence of vitality in an institution. In fact, it might well feel concerned if, over a period of time, no such efforts were in evidence in an accredited institution. Attention may properly be called to the qualification noted in this Manual that experiments of merit must be "well-conceived and carefully directed." The attempt merely to do something new may be deplorable, indeed, rather than meritorious. Opportunity will be given for each institution to set forth any unique features or practices which, in its judgment, should be protected in accrediting.

III. LIST OF ACCREDITED INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION

July 1, 1958

Explanation of dates.—The dates listed are dates of membership. The first accredited list was published in 1913; no institution was accredited prior to that time.

A dash connecting two dates indicates continuous accreditation during the period specified, e.g., 1915–1919 means continuous accreditation from 1915 to 1919 inclusive. A date followed by a dash indicates continuous accreditation to and including the current year. A semicolon indicates that the institution was on the list for the year or years specified but that it was not on the list for the following year, unless the next entry shows a change of classification for the latter years.

Designation of extent of program.—The symbol (M) or (D) after the name of an institution indicates that the institution offers a graduate program leading to the Master's or Doctor's degree, respectively, and that the accreditation of the institution includes its graduate work. Those institutions which are listed neither as junior colleges nor as having graduate programs are Bachelor's degree-granting institutions or institutions with graduate programs that have not yet been accredited.

Proceedings of the Commission on Secondary Schools

I. REPORT OF THE COMMISSION

ON SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 1958, the Sixty-Third Annual Meeting of the Commission on Secondary Schools of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools opened with a meeting of the Dependents' Schools Committee in the Palmer House, Chicago, at 2:00 P.M. The next day the Administrative Committee met at 10:00 A.M. The State chairmen and the Administrative Committee followed with a meeting on Monday. Much of the time was spent in discussing problems common to all and attempting to arrive at a common solution of those problems.

The Executive Secretary had planned in detail for the meeting of reviewing committees. All committees were complete before coming to the meeting and each chairman had been provided with a complete list of the members of his committee. Promptly at 9:00 A.M. the doors were closed and the work of the committees got under way. A total of 363 individuals sat down to review the reports of more than 3,474 high schools. Before the end of the day, the work of the reviewing committees was completed. At 4:00 P.M., the chairmen, assistant chairmen, and secretaries of the reviewing committees met with the nineteen state chairmen. They reported the results of the day's work; heard any state chairman who might question the decision of the reviewing committee about an individual school within his jurisdiction or request the reasons for the proposed recommendation; and cleared up all other questions prior to the presentation of the actions of the reviewing committees to the Commission at its final business session. This meeting was followed by a short session of the Administrative Committee to take official action on some of the recommendations of the state chairmen.

The "Buzz Sessions," introduced for the first time in 1954, were continued with the same fine results. These groups met at 2:00 P.M. on Tuesday, March 25, and were attended by those who had completed their reviewing activities and by any others who were interested. William F. Carlson, Principal, Northfield Junior-Senior High School, Northfield, Minnesota was the general chairman. Under him were five subgroups each with a chairman and recorder. These meetings were well attended and the general participation of those present indicated keen interest in the subjects discussed.

The first general business meeting of the Commission was held on Wednesday, March 26, at 9:30 A.M.

The Executive Secretary presented his report which covered the activities of the Administrative Committee, the Dependents' Schools Committee, and the changes made in the Annual Report Forms by the Report Forms Committee.

Other reports were made by the following individuals:

L. A. Van Dyke, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa, reported the progress made by his committee in rewriting the Policies, Regulations, and Criteria.

George Beck, Principal, Central High School, Duluth, Minnesota, reported the recommendations of the committee on Election Procedures.

Soon after the closing of the Annual Meeting in 1957, Chairman Ralph Johnson appointed a Nominating Committee composed of the following individuals:

Charles H. Cross, Chairman, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Arkansas
Glenn O. Ream, Principal, Senior High School, Albuquerque, New Mexico
M. M. Cruft, Administrative Assistant, State Department of Education, Springfield, Illinois.

The report of the Nominating Committee was called for and the Chairman, reporting for the Committee, nominated the following individuals:

Chairman of the Commission on Secondary Schools: Stephen A. Romine, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado

Member of the Administrative Committee: Harold H. Metcalf, Principal, Bloom Township High School, Chicago Heights, Illinois (1962)

Kenneth Pederson, Principal, Hibbing, Minnesota

E. O. Tanberg, Superintendent, Public Schools, Garretson, South Dakota
Harold Mack, Principal, Laramie, Wyoming

Member of the Commission on Colleges and Universities: Munn D. Forrest, Superintendent, Public Schools, Corning, Arkansas.

The report of the Committee was accepted and the Chairman then called for nominations from the floor. None being offered, it was moved and seconded that the individuals named by the nominating committee be elected to the respective offices. Motion carried unanimously. The meeting adjourned at 11:30 A.M.

The final business meeting of the Commission was held at 2:00 P.M. on Wednesday, March 26.

After the roll call, the chairman of each of the reviewing committees reported to the Commission and made the following recommendations, which were accepted unanimously:

V. POLICIES, REGULATIONS, AND CRITERIA FOR THE APPROVAL OF SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Guiding Principles

I. An institution should be judged upon the basis of the total pattern it presents as an institution of its type. While it seems necessary that institutions be judged in terms of particular characteristics, it should be recognized that wide variations will appear in the degree of success achieved.

II. It should be accepted as a principle of procedure that deficiency in one field may be compensated for by strength in other fields—no school should be denied accreditation because it fails to meet a specific standard, if its total pattern of achievement is good.

III. A school should be judged, in so far as is possible, in terms of its own philosophy and the purpose which it serves in its own community. The fact should be recognized that individual differences exist among schools and among communities.

IV. Criteria should be flexible, and of a type that can readily adjust themselves to changing conditions.

V. Objective criteria should be based upon a sufficient amount of research and experimentation to establish their validity as measuring instruments.

VI. While it seems desirable that criteria regard as basic certain characteristics, such as faculty preparation, the intellectual and moral tone of a school, the nature of the school plant, the adequacy of equipment and supplies, the quality of the school library and library service, the condition of the records, the policies of the board of education, the financial status, the teaching load, and the educational program, it should be recognized that considerable divergence from normal standards may occur in one of these characteristics without greatly detracting from the educational merits of an institution. Uniformity in every detail stifles educational experimentation and is not only unnecessary but undesirable.

VII. Criteria, to be of maximum value, should be stimulating and conducive to educational growth; they should be instruments for continuous self-evaluation and should provide the incentive to strive constantly toward higher goals of achievement.

Policies of the Commission on Secondary Schools

POLICY I

A school which has submitted its annual report to the State Committee which is in the highest class of schools as officially listed by the properly constituted educational authorities of the state and which has been approved continuously for five years shall not be dropped without a year's warning except by a three-fourths vote of the members of the Commission present. A school which has not been approved continuously for five years may be dropped without warning.

POLICY II

It is the policy of the Commission to recommend the removal from the approved list of the Association of any school which, after a year's warning, continues to violate the same Regulation or Criterion which was violated the previous year. Upon the recommendation of the State Committee, however, this policy may be waived by a three-fourths vote of the Commission members present.

State Committees are encouraged to advise a school which has been warned for violation of a Regulation or a Criterion to submit to an evaluation, using the Evaluative Criteria.[1] This evaluation is to be carried out when, in the opinion of the State Committee, it will assist in improving the condition for which the school was warned, or in explaining the extenuating circumstances which may justify a second warning, or even the discontinuance of the warning.

POLICY III

Secondary schools are approved for an indefinite period. All schools on the approved list, however, shall submit such reports as the Commission may require. The certificate showing that a school is approved by the Association is valid as long as the school meets the conditions for approval as defined by the commission on Secondary Schools and approved by the Association.

POLICY IV

Credits acquired through summer session work, extension courses, correspondence courses, or state examinations will be accepted by the Association as counting toward the preparation of the teacher, if such credits are accepted by an approved institution of higher education.

The Association recognizes that credit established in accordance with the recommendations in A Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services[1] is sound. Such credit may be counted as a part of the preparation of the teacher, when accepted by an approved institution of higher education.

POLICY V

The Chairman of the State Committee is the official agent of communication between the approved schools of the state and the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools. He is responsible to the Commission for the distribution, collection, and filing of all reports, and for such other duties as the Association may direct.

The Chairman of the State Committee shall be either the Committee representative of the State University or of the State Department of Education and shall be selected by majority vote of the State Committee subject to the approval of the Executive Committee. He shall be elected for a term of four years, and shall be eligible to succeed himself, but may continue in office only so long as he is a member of the State Committee.

In the event of a vacancy in the chairmanship during the term of office of an incumbent, the State Committee shall elect a chairman to complete the unexpired term. The meeting for this purpose will be called by the secondary school representative having the longest tenure on the committee.

POLICY VI

The interim authority for interpreting Policies, Regulations, and Criteria for the Approval of Secondary Schools is the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools.

POLICY VII

It is the policy of the Association to warn high schools for violation of the conditions for eligibility to the approved list of the Association and to drop from this list any high school which violates the same Regulation or Criterion during consecutive years. High schools may also be warned or dropped whenever it becomes evident that they frequently violate conditions for eligibility to the approved list. In the case of a minor violation, the Association may instruct the State Committee to advise the school concerned. It is the policy of the Association not to take an action which is different from that recommended by the State Committee without first notifying the committee of the state concerned.

State Committees are encouraged to advise a school which has been warned for violation of a Regulation or a Criterion to submit to an evaluation, using the Evaluative Criteria. (See Policy II.)

POLICY VIII

In the case of individual schools of any state, reasonable deviations from Regulations and Criteria may be accepted by the Commission and approved by the Association when recommended by the State Committee. Such recommendations must be supported by substantial evidence showing that these deviations are justifiable.

No school should be denied approval if it fails to meet fully all Criteria and Regulations, provided its total educational pattern is good, as revealed by the results of a competent survey or other evidence. Policy VIII also applies to new schools seeking admission. State Committees are justified in expecting closer adherence to published regulations and criteria in the case of new schools. Special attention should be given to the reports of State Committees which have used the Evaluative Criteria as one of the steps to be taken by new schools in making their application for admission. It is recommended that State Committees ask each prospective new school to carry out at least a self evaluation using the Evaluative Criteria. Such schools should be encouraged to use the full Cooperative Study procedure, supplemented by a review of the self evaluation by a visiting committee or by the State Committee.

The conditions for eligibility to the approved list of member schools of the Association are included under two separate classifications: Regulations and Criteria.

REGULATIONS

Regulations are those yardsticks which serve to assist schools which are members of the Association with definite guidance as to the necessary minima to be observed. In other words, regulations are floors below which there seems to be agreement that schools may not fall and still be of the type that should be considered good schools according to the Association's Criteria.

REGULATION I

The Annual Report Blank

The Association is under no obligation to consider a school for unqualified approval unless the annual report blanks have been properly and completely filled out and placed on file with the State Chairman on the dates determined by the Commission.

REGULATION II

Organization of the School

A secondary school shall base its report on all grades included in its organization.[1]

REGULATION III

Qualifications of Staff Members[2]

A. Instructional Staff

1. General Preparation. a. All members of the instructional staff possess a Bachelor's degree from an institution of higher education approved by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools or from an institution of equal standing. (Exceptions may be made when recommended by the State Committee in the case of teachers of trades, if these teachers are legally qualified to teach in the state and have had the apprenticeship training required in their respective trades.)

b. Graduates of colleges not recognized by the North Central Association or by any other regional accrediting agency may become eligible to teach in a secondary school accredited by the Association by being admitted to graduate standing in an institution of higher education accredited by the Association or by any other regional accrediting agency, and by completing successfully not less than six semester hours of graduate work. This part of the Regulation is not to apply to graduates of non-accredited colleges who desire to teach in the state in which they were graduated, when approved individually in accordance with the policy of the State Committee.

c. Teachers in school systems having two or more high schools, who are transferred by the administrative officer from one school to another, and who, though not fully qualified, have been accepted previously by the Association, when they teach the same subjects in a new school as they were teaching in their former position, shall be accepted by the Association as properly qualified teachers, provided that the system encourages teachers who are not fully qualified to continue their educational preparation, and that evidence exists that progress is being made.[3]

2. Professional Preparation. The minimum professional preparation of individual members of the instructional staff is

[1] A change in reporting the organization of a school shall be approved by the State Committee.

[2] Except where specifically stated (as in the case of library personnel), requirements pertaining to staff preparation are not retroactive and do not invalidate the qualification of a staff member who was fully qualified under the standards applicable at the time of his appointment to his present position.

[3] In the case of church schools, "school system" is taken to mean a group of schools under the central administrative control of a particular religious order or diocesan superintendent.

fifteen semester hours of education. In the case of a teacher whose professional preparation consists of less than fifteen semester hours, the State Committee shall have power to waive this Regulation if, in its judgment, the teacher is otherwise highly qualified and is doing clearly superior work.

3. Preparation in Teaching Areas. a. Adequate preparation in teaching fields and areas is defined as that which meets the legal requirements of the state in which the school is located and also any special requirements set up by legally constituted educational authorities of the state, provided, however, that the minimum preparation is fifteen semester hours at the college level in any one of the following areas: language arts, a foreign language, social studies, science, mathematics, business, health and physical education, music, art, home economics, agriculture, and industrial arts, and adequate preparation in each subject taught.[1] In the case of a teacher who devotes a minor fraction of his time to the teaching of a particular subject, a reasonable deviation from the minimum preparation may be accepted when approved by the State Committee.

b. In the case of unified courses which draw their subject matter from two or more teaching fields, the minimum preparation expected will be twenty semester hours on the college level, appropriately distributed among the teaching fields concerned.

c. Each State Committee will submit to the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools the requirements of the properly constituted educational authorities of the state pertaining to the preparation of teachers in subject fields and areas.

4. Records of Teachers' Preparation. An official transcript or a certified copy of the college preparation of each teacher is kept on file in the office of the administrative head of the school or school system. All information which pertains to the preparation of teachers is secured from such official records. An official transcript is the institutional credit record signed by the registering officer of the higher institution certifying the credits. Its submission to the State Chairman for evaluation may be required. A certified copy of the transcript may be accepted.

B. Library Staff[2]

1. The Librarian. a. In schools with an enrollment of 500 or more pupils, the librarian is a full-time librarian. In schools with an enrollment of 200–499 pupils, the librarian may be a full-time librarian, a study-hall librarian, or a teacher-librarian; at least half the time of a teacher-librarian is devoted to the library. In schools with an enrollment of less than 200 pupils, at least two periods a day of the teacher-librarian's time are devoted to the library.

b. The librarian meets the requirements of Regulation IIIA-1 and 2. In a school with an enrollment of 500 or more pupils, the librarian has completed a minimum of 24 semester hours of library science. In a school with an enrollment of 200–499 pupils, the librarian has completed a minimum of 15 semester hours of library science. In a school with an enrollment of less than 200 pupils, the librarian has completed a minimum of 6 semester hours in library science.

c. The work in library science includes such courses as the following: school library organization and administration, cataloguing and classification, book selection and acquisition with emphasis on the reading and needs of adolescents, reference material, and general bibliography.

2. Assistants. Provision is made for an adequate number of assistants to the librarian, either as assistant-librarians or as pupil-librarians.

C. Other Professional Staff (physician, dentist, nurse, psychiatrist, psychologist)

[1] Deductions in mathematics or in any one foreign language may be allowed to the extent of two semester hours for each unit earned in high school, not to exceed a total deduction of six semester hours.

[2] Regulation IIIB shall be in force upon adoption, but exceptions may be made by the State Committee until the school year 1955–56.

Members of the non-instructional professional staff meet the requirements of the state in which the school is located.

D. Clerical Staff

Adequate clerical assistance is provided. The qualifications of such personnel include, as a minimum, high school graduation and preparation in office practice.

E. Custodial Staff

The members of the custodial staff meet the state requirements pertaining to their training and employment.

REGULATION IV

Administrative Staff

A. Principal

The principal (or the administrative head of the secondary school) has had at least two years of teaching experience and possesses as a minimum a Master's degree from an institution of higher education qualified to offer graduate work. His preparation in school administration and supervision includes an appropriate distribution of graduate work covering those phases of the school administrator's work which are professional in character, such as secondary school administration, curriculum making, the supervision of instruction, methods of teaching, philosophy of education, history of education, pupil activities, guidance, health and safety, vocational education, personnel records and reports, and school finance. Anyone holding title of principal meets the foregoing requirements.

B. Superintendent

The superintendent of schools or the administrative head of the school system has the teaching experience and professional preparation described in Regulation IVA.

C. Supervisory and Guidance Assistants

Any member of the faculty who assists the administrative head of the school in the supervision of instruction possesses, as a minimum, the requirements specified in Regulation IIIA-1 and 2, and, in addition, an appropriate distribution of graduate work in such fields as the supervision of instruction in the secondary school, personnel and guidance, methods of teaching, educational psychology, and philosophy of education.

REGULATION V

Length of School Year

The minimum length of the school year is thirty-six weeks, 180 days, with a minimum of 172 days of classes actually in session.

REGULATION VI

Length of Class Period

A. A school may elect to conduct classes on the short period basis, the long period basis, or a combination of the two. The minimum length of the short class period for one unit of credit is defined as 40 minutes, exclusive of all time used in the changing of classes or teachers, five times a week for thirty-six weeks, or 180 days. Under this plan, two class periods necessitating little or no preparation outside of class are considered as equivalent to one period of prepared class work.

B. The length of the laboratory or long class period, for one unit of credit and for the purposes of this Regulation, is defined as a minimum of 55 minutes exclusive of all time used for the changing of classes or teachers. Under the long period plan, directed study may be substituted for the outside preparation required for the short period class. Under the short or the long period plan, however, a reasonable amount of outside or independent study by pupils in accordance with their abilities is encouraged.

REGULATION VII

Requirements for Graduation

A. A three-year senior high school requires a minimum of twelve units, or 120 semester hours, for graduation. Four-year senior high schools require a minimum of sixteen units, or 160 semester hours, for graduation. Six-year high schools require a minimum of twelve units, or 120 semester hours, earned in the upper three years. (See Regulation II.)

B. A semester hour is defined as the amount of credit granted for the completion of a course covering one semester and consisting of one class period weekly, as defined in Regulation VI.

C. In order to permit variation from the foregoing definitions of a quantitative unit of credit based upon time element and to stimulate improved standards of scholarship, the school may elect to grant credit on a qualitative basis. School authorities, therefore, are encouraged to determine credit through the use of approved end-of-course tests. These tests measure the achievement ordinarily required for credit in a one or two semester course. Any supplementary evidence which may be considered necessary or desirable to establish the validity of such credit may be required.

D. State Committees are empowered to approve this plan for those schools wishing to adopt it, provided the school has personnel trained for the administration of such testing program. The scores of such tests may be used for the transfer of credit to other schools and to colleges.

E. Tests may be used to classify individuals entering school with educational experience for which regular transcripts of credit are not available. Each individual thus tested is placed in the educational courses best suited to his needs.

REGULATION VIII

Size of School

An approved school employs, as a minimum, a number of teachers whose full-time equivalency is one in excess of the number of years in the organization of the school.

REGULATION IX

Pupil Load

In order to protect the social as well as the intellectual maturity of the pupil, it is advisable that he have four years experience in a four-year high school or three years experience in a three-year high school in order to graduate.[1] In exceptional cases, pupils may be allowed to graduate in less than the time specified above, provided that adequate guidance procedures have been followed.

REGULATION X

Teaching Load

In determining the teaching load, consideration is given to the following components: the number of periods of class teaching, the number of different preparations, study hall duty, class size, total number of pupils taught daily, the demands made in the way of any guidance and supervisory activities, and the duties involved in the sponsorship of pupil activities. Due allowance is made in computing the teacher load for special assignments to committee work whose purpose is to improve any phase of the school program. The desirable maximum equivalency of a combination of such duties is six periods daily for the short period schedule, and five periods daily for the lengthened period schedule. A teaching load in excess of seven periods daily, including study hall assignments, for the short period schedule and six periods daily, including study hall assignments, for the lengthened period schedule is considered a violation of this Regulation. The total teaching load is not excessive and is distributed equitably among the teaching staff.[2]

REGULATION XI

Library Expenditures

A. That part of the annual secondary school budget devoted to library expenditures varies according to the size of the school; the smaller the school, the greater

[1] If the school has a summer session, the time spent may be counted as a proportionate part of the school year.

[2] An average enrollment in the school in excess of thirty pupils per teacher is considered as a violation of this Regulation. For the purpose of interpreting this Regulation, the principal, vice-principals, study hall teachers, vocational advisers, librarians, and other supervisory officers may be counted as teachers for such portion of their time as they devote to the management of the high school.

the pupil per capita expenditure. A minimum amount of $200.00 is expended annually in each secondary school for the purchase of library books, periodicals, newspapers, pamphlets, vertical file materials, and supplies.

B. The budget is planned in accordance with the library needs as shown by the annual library inventory and in accordance with the school's objectives for library service. The following scale of annual expenditures is recommended as a guide:

1. Schools with an enrollment of 1000 or more pupils expend approximately 50 cents per pupil.
2. Schools with an enrollment of 500 to 999 pupils expend approximately 75 cents per pupil.
3. Schools with an enrollment of 200 to 499 pupils expend approximately $1.00 per pupil.
4. Schools with an enrollment of less than 200 pupils expend not less than $200.00.

REGULATION XII

Financial Report

The financial condition of the school district or governing body is such that it is possible for the school to meet the conditions for accreditation and to maintain reasonably well standards of excellence as indicated in the Criteria.

CRITERIA

The standards of excellence which a school holding membership in the North Central Association is expected to maintain are based on statements in the Evaluative Criteria, as developed by the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards.

CRITERION I

Philosophy and Objectives

A. Pupil Population and School Community

Since the school exists for the educational needs of its constituency, it should be familiar with the distinctive characteristics of the community, such as its sociological composition, its social, economic, religious, recreational and educational institutions and agencies, and the educational needs of both youth and adults. Since the local community is also a part of the state, nation, and world, the school must also be concerned with an understanding of the social, political, economic, and other forces of these larger communities and with the development of the ability of all peoples to live together in one world. A school, therefore, should develop its philosophy and objectives from an analysis of such social factors.

B. Philosophy of the School

Each school should be free to determine its philosophy to the extent that it promotes the principles and spirit of American democracy. The statement of philosophy should be written, implemented by a specific statement of objectives, and manifested in the educational program of the school.

CRITERION II

Educational Program

A. Basic Principles

1. The educational program of the school is concerned with more than the accumulation of knowledge, development of skills, and improvement of understandings. The development of interest, tastes, appreciations, ideals, and attitudes, and the functioning of all these elements in a democratic society should be included in the educational program.

2. An educational program which is concerned only with preparation for college can no longer be considered an adequate offering for a school, although preparation for college should continue to be one function of secondary education. The program should provide for the interests, needs, and abilities of all pupils as well as for the requirements of the community and the public supporting the school.

3. The evaluation of an educational program should be made in terms of the curriculum and courses of study, pupil activities, the library, guidance, instruction and outcomes.

B. Curriculum

1. The curriculum should be chiefly concerned with the orientation, guidance, instruction, and participation of youth in those significant areas of living for which education should supplement the work of other social institutions.

2. Constant adaptation and development of the curriculum should be a cooperative enterprise engaging all staff members, carried on under competent leadership, and using all available resources. Carefully conducted and supervised experimentation for curriculum development is desirable.

C. Pupil Activity Program

The pupil activity program should aim to develop desirable social traits and behavior patterns in an environment favorable to their growth. Special importance should be attached to provision for pupil participation through student councils or similar organizations in the administration of those school functions which especially concern the interest and welfare of pupils. The activity program should not only provide opportunity for developing leadership ability but should stimulate active participation of all pupils in appropriate school organizations and community activities.

D. Library Service

1. The library is easily accessible to pupils, adequate in size, and attractive in appearance.

2. Adequate provisions for the school library should include the following: a. A well-educated, efficient librarian; b. books and periodicals to supply the needs for reference, research, and cultural and inspirational reading; c. provision for keeping all materials fully catalogued and well organized; d. a budget which provides adequately for the maintenance and improvement of the library; e. encouragement of pupils in the development of the habit of reading and enjoying books and periodicals of good quality and real value; f. continuous and systematic use of the library by teachers.

E. Guidance Service

Guidance, as applied to the secondary school, should be thought of as a service designed to give systematic aid to pupils in making adjustments to various types of problems which they must meet—educational, vocational, health, moral, social, civic and personal. Guidance activities should be organized into a definite program in which each staff member is a responsible participant. Where counselors are available, they should be responsible not only for specific activities but for stimulating and assisting teachers in their guidance activities.

F. Instruction

1. In the instructional program evidence should be found of: a. goals or objectives appropriate to the degree of development of pupils and in keeping with the purposes of the school; b. the selection and use of varied types of teaching and learning materials and experiences; c. the adjustment of method and organization to conditions and needs of pupils as a group and as individuals; d. the use of every legitimate means available in the evaluation of progress and quality of learning; e. a personal relationship of confidence, respect, and helpfulness between teachers and pupils, resulting in similar relationships between school and community; f. provision for all desirable types of learnings; g. definite and adequate learning by pupils as an outcome.

2. The efficiency of instruction, the acquired habits of thought and study, the general intellectual and moral tone of a school, and the cooperative attitude of the community are paramount factors. Only schools that rank well in these particulars are considered eligible for the list of schools approved by the Association.

G. Evaluation of Outcomes

1. In the educational program of a good secondary school, major concern should be given to attaining desirable outcomes and to the various kinds of evidence indicating that such outcomes are being realized.

2. The results of the learning process should include: a. factual information of knowledge; b. meaning and understanding; c. abilities to do—knowledge and understanding combined with skill; d. desirable attitudes—scientific, social, moral, and others; e. worthy ideals, purposes, appreciations, and interests; and f. resultant intelligent participation in general life activities.

CRITERION III

School Staff

A. Instructional Staff

1. The staff should be a group of individually competent persons, organized into a cooperative body, having common purposes and motivated by the philosophy and objectives of the school. Diversity of preparation and viewpoints is desirable for a well-rounded staff, but its members should have the ability and the desire to work together, cheerfully, harmoniously, and efficiently for the good of the school and its pupils. Each member of such a staff should give evidence of awareness and understanding of educational problems and of continuous professional growth.

2. The number of staff members should be adequate for the curriculum offered, the school's enrollment, and the special needs of the pupils and the community. The teaching load and the total working load should be such as not to endanger the special needs of pupils.

3. Each staff member should have broad, general scholarship, thorough preparation in his special field, professional competence, and reasonable social development. In the selection of individual staff members, attention should be given to teaching ability, personality, health, and character. In evaluating the adequacy of the general preparation of the instructional staff, State Committees will take into consideration the extent to which the staff as a whole has completed work beyond the Bachelor's degree, the kind and distribution of college courses taken, the recency of their completion, and other evidences of professional growth.

4. Teachers should receive salaries adequate to insure a living standard comparable with the social demands on the profession and the worth of their service as well as to provide security for old age.

B. Librarian

The library staff has a broad, general education, a good understanding of the school's philosophy of education and of its educational program, and some successful teaching experience. The staff has the ability to work effectively with teachers in finding and using suitable library materials and aids in teaching and learning, to work agreeably and effectively with pupils, and to teach them to find and use library material readily and effectively.

C. Other Professional Staff

The services of such personnel as physician, dentist, nurse, psychiatrist, psychologist, speech correctionist and hearing therapist are desirable and should be adequate to the needs of the school.

D. Clerical Staff

The clerical assistance necessary for an effective program of instruction, administration, and supervision should be provided.

E. Custodial Staff

The number of custodial staff members should be adequate to keep the school plant in sanitary and efficient operation. They should be trustworthy, resourceful, and cooperative.

F. Health Examination

It is recommended that a health examination be given to every new employee and periodically to every staff employee.

CRITERION IV

Administration and Supervision[1]

A. The Board of Education

Responsibility for determining the general policies of the school system is entrusted to a governing board, hereafter designated as the board of education. The board functions only when in official session; at other times its members have no authority in school matters, except as specifically authorized by the board. The administrative head of the schools is the chief executive officer of the board of education. Subject to the approval of the board of education, the administrative head is responsible for the selection and assignment of all school employees, the business management of the schools including school plant and equipment, the administration and supervision of the educational program, and the program of public relations. These duties necessitate organization of resources, both material and personal; delegation of duties and authority; and supervision of all delegated tasks and of all individuals to whom authority and responsibility are assigned. The better the administrative personnel, the more efficient will be the organization and management and the greater the probability of the successful attainment of the school's objectives, provided the personnel is always mindful of the primary function of the school—the development of its pupils. Success should be measured in terms of results, not of machinery.

B. Policies of the Board of Education

1. The policies of the board of education are such as to encourage a maximum of educational growth and development. The board of education has a published statement of policy.

2. The policies of the board of education are such as to attract and retain the services of well-qualifed and competent staff members and a well-trained school administrator who is capable of providing effective educational leadership. It is the policy of the board under which an accredited high school operates to employ, promote, demote, and discharge staff members and other employees only upon the recommendation of the administrative head of the school system.

3. No employee is dismissed during the term of a contract or refused re-employment except at an official meeting of the board of education. The minutes of such a meeting clearly indicate all actions taken by the board. Employees who are to be dismissed or refused re-employment are given reasons for the action taken by the board of education and are given an opportunity for a hearing before official action is taken.

4. The administrative head of the school system attends all meetings of the board of education except that part of a meeting when his own employment is under consideration.

5. The board of education deals with staff members and other school employees only through the administrative head of the school system.

6. The administrative head of the school system is held responsible to the board of education for submitting a carefully planned budget and for the expenditure of money in accordance with the budget adopted. He keeps those members of the staff who have responsibility for the proper expenditure of school funds informed as to the balances remaining in that part of the budget which relates to their departments.

7. The administrative head of the school system should share with the controlling board responsibility for establishing and maintaining desirable relations with the school's public. Therefore the supporting public should be informed regarding the policies, program, objectives, activities, and plans for the future of the school so that the support of the public be assured for the school's undertakings.

[1] In the case of private schools or church schools, by "Board of Education" is to be understood the individual or group performing the functions of the board of education which are considered in Criterion IV.

There should always be a sympathetic and understanding relationship between the school and its administration on the one hand and its public on the other.

C. Cooperative Relationships

The working relationships between the board of education and the administrative head of the system, between the administrative head of the system and the principal of the secondary school, and between principal and staff are such as to insure successful and effective administration. Administrative procedures should be carried on by democratic processes which recognize the abilities and contributions of staff members.

D. Administration

1. The administration of the school is such as to insure a well-organized and well-managed school, effectively and intelligently supervised, and meeting the needs and interests of the pupils and of the community. Effectiveness of organization, permanency of tenure of all staff members, as shown by the history of the school, and the attitude and support of the community are matters which will be taken into consideration in determining whether the school is eligible for accrediting.

2. Interference with the administration of the high school by individuals or organized groups either inside or outside the school, when such interference is likely to result in a lowering of the effectiveness of the educational program, will be considered sufficient grounds for an official visit and inquiry into the condition of the school.

E. Supervision

Supervision includes the improvement of every phase of the educational program, such as the organization of programs of studies, the revision of curricula, the instructional procedures, the pupil activity program, and the non-instructional activities of staff members. The administrator directly in charge of a secondary school should have ample time during the school day for the administration and supervision of his school.

F. Administration of the Activity Program

A secondary school should not participate in any district, state, interstate, or regional athletic, music, commercial, speech, or other contest, tournament, congress, or assemblage involving the participation of more than two schools, except those approved by the State Committee, or by that organization recognized by the State Committee as constituting the highest authority for the regulation and control of such activities. It should be the responsibility of the State Committee to furnish member schools with a list of approved contests, tournaments, congresses, and assemblages. The State Committee should give prompt action on requests for the approval of activities.

G. System of Records and Reports

A school should maintain a type of personnel and record system of such nature that it can provide any of the data asked for in the Criteria.

CRITERION V

School Plant, Equipment and Supplies

A. Building and Site

The school plant should be flexible, adequate in size, and so planned as to facilitate the offering of a modern program of secondary education that is suited to the needs and interests of the pupils and of the community. When a new plant is being planned, or an existing building is to be enlarged or remodeled, plans should contemplate meeting future as well as present needs. The building should be attractive and appropriate in design and should assure the safety and health of its occupants. The site should be large enough to provide ample playground space and should be attractively landscaped.

B. Sanitation

Janitorial service, lighting, heating, ventilation, water supply and drinking fountains, lavatories and toilets, wardrobes and lockers, school furniture, and location of the classrooms, shops, laboratory, and library should be such as to insure hygienic conditions for pupils and teachers.

C. Safety

Proper steps for protecting pupils against injuries should be taken in laboratories, shops, gymnasiums, transportation facilities, and in all parts of the building or grounds where accidents are likely to occur. The school plant should be adequately protected against fire and should have fire exits.

D. Instructional Equipment and Supplies

Instructional equipment and supplies, such as: science apparatus, laboratory tables and demonstration desks; shop tools and machinery; gymnasium equipment and supplies; equipment for home economics and agricultural laboratories; equipment and supplies for commercial, art, and music rooms; audio-visual aids equipment; maps and charts; library books, text books, and supplies should be adequate and used in such a way as to meet the needs of instruction for all courses and activities offered.

E. Library

1. Materials. The library should be conceived of as a communications center. The number and kind of library and reference books, periodicals, newspapers, pamphlets, information files, audio-visual materials, and other learning aids should be adequate[1] for the number of pupils and the needs of instruction in all courses offered.

[1] Quality of service and adequacy may be measured by the use of Section F, Library Services, of the Evaluative Criteria.

2. Location and Equipment. a. The library room, or combination library-study hall, should be easily accessible, should accommodate approximately ten percent of the enrollment, should be attractive in appearance, and should contain standard library equipment, such as: reading tables, desks or desk-chairs, chairs, librarian's desk, cabinets for card catalogs, magazine and newspaper racks, dictionary stands and filing cabinets. In judging the adequacy of library space, consideration should be given to modifying factors in individual schools and to the extent to which library facilities are decentralized.

b. The record system should include a shelf list, alphabetically arranged card catalogs, an accession record, and should be classified by the Dewey Decimal system or other classification system acceptable to the State Committee. The central library may be supplemented by departmental or classroom libraries of frequently changed materials appropriate to the work of individual classes.

F. Special Services

Adequate provision should be made according to the individual needs of each school for such special services as rest rooms, cafeteria, dining rooms, kitchens, clinics, infirmary facilities, and study and sleeping quarters.

G. Protection of Pupil Records; Care and Storage of Equipment and Supplies

Ample provision should be made for the safekeeping, systematic arrangement, and care of all materials, supplies, and apparatus used in the instructional and activity program, and the storage of all financial and personnel records and reports. An annual inventory is made of all equipment and supplies. A fireproof vault should be provided, or a safe which meets underwriters' specifications.

Trends in Secondary Schools

SUMMARY OF STATISTICAL INFORMATION FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS ACCREDITED BY THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR 1957–1958

DATA PRESENTED in the tables which follow were compiled from the Annual Report on Regulations (Form A) as submitted by member schools and summarized by each State Chairman. The final compilation was completed in the office of the Executive Secretary. They indicate conditions as they existed at the close of the first month of the school year 1957–58. They reveal trends in the more significant items included in that report. For each item returns are given for the nineteen states and the Dependents' Schools. For comparison, the totals for the preceding five years are shown at the bottom of each table, except in a few instances where comparable figures are not available.

In the fall of 1957, the number of member schools accredited by the Association rose to 3,416, an increase of 38 over the previous year. Thirty-nine were Dependents' Schools maintained by the Armed Services for the dependents of military and civilian personnel in occupied countries. In 1956–57, there was a total of 712 six-year high schools and in 1957–58, there were only 680, a decrease in that category of 32. The four-year high schools gained 32; the three-year high schools increased by 34; and schools organized on other plans, for the most part two- and five-year schools, showed a loss of 10.

The pupil enrollment increased by 114,772 to a total of 2,051,105. This is the largest number ever reported. Included in this total are 1,027,736 girls and 1,023,369 boys. When enrollment in the separate grades is examined, we find a slight decrease in grades seven and eight, but a substantial increase in each of the other four grades. The number of post-graduate students decreased from 5,029 to 3,949; a decrease of 1,080 over the previous year. The average size of a North Central high school continues to climb. The figure for 1957–58 was 602, a gain of 29 over 1956–57.

The number of pupils graduated in 1957 (the report for 1957–58 gives the graduates of the previous year) was 377,637, an increase of 522. Of the total number graduating, 193,482 were girls and 184,115 were boys.

There has been a decrease of 120 in the number of librarians employed. Fifty-five of these were part-time and 65 were full-time. Not only was there a decrease in the number employed; there was also a decrease in the number of well qualified librarians. In 1956–57 there were 1,827 librarians who had earned 24 or more semester hours in library science. In 1957–58, that number was 1,755; a loss of 72. There was a decrease of 52 in the number of librarians with no training; a gain of four with from 1–5 semester hours of training; a loss of 70 with from 6–15 semester hours of training; and a gain of 30 with 16–23 semester hours of library science.

The teacher load, as reflected in the pupil-teacher ratio is gradually becoming heavier. In 1957–58 there was a decrease of 41 in the number of schools with a pupil-teacher ratio of fewer that 15, and a decrease of 43 in the number with a pupil-teacher ratio between 15.1–30.0, the increase was 79 and 33 respectively. There was a decrease of four in the number of schools with a pupil-teacher load above 30. Violations of the regulation pertaining to pupil-teacher ratio was found in seven of the 19 states.

The teacher shortage is reflected in the data on new teachers. The number without a bachelor's degree continues negligible; however, it decreased from 425 to 368. The number short in professional training increased from 425 to 457, and the number with inadequate preparation in their teaching fields increased from 779 to 825. There were 21,435 teachers new to their positions this past year. In 1956–57, the number was 20,835.

ARTICLE I. NAME

The name of this Association shall be the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

ARTICLE II. OBJECT

The object of the Association shall be the development and maintenance of high standards of excellence for universities, colleges, and secondary schools, the continued improvement of the educational program and the effectiveness of instruction on secondary and college levels through a scientific and professional approach to the solution of educational problems, the establishment of cooperative relationships between the secondary schools and colleges and universities within the territory of the Association, and the maintenance of effective working relationships with other educational organizations and accrediting agencies.

ARTICLE III. TERRITORY AND MEMBERSHIP

Section 1. The territory of the Association shall consist of the states of Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming and/or such areas as may be hereafter included. Territory shall be excluded from or included within the jurisdiction of the Association only upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee and by the vote of the Association. The recommendation of the Executive Committee shall be based on substantial evidence indicating that the action recommended represents the desire of the universities, colleges, and secondary schools of the territory concerned.

Section 2. The membership of the Association shall consist of three classes: (1) universities, colleges, and secondary schools; (2) officers of the Association and members of the Commissions; and (3) honorary members. Only members of Class 1 are eligible to vote at official meetings of the Association.

It shall be understood that membership in the Association for universities, colleges, and secondary schools is purely voluntary. Although all decisions of the Association bearing on the policy and management of universities, colleges, and secondary schools are advisory in character, it shall be understood that the Association has the right to establish requirements for membership, to develop and establish criteria for the evaluation of universities, colleges, and secondary schools, and to establish and maintain all regulations and conditions for continued membership in the Association.

Section 3. Any university, college, or secondary school which has been approved by the Association shall be admitted to membership on the payment of the annual dues. Such membership shall cease if at any time the university, college, or secondary school resigns or is dropped from the approved list of the Association or if the annual dues are more than one year in arrears. Any lapse in membership shall date from July 1 next succeeding the Annual Meeting at which time action was taken to drop the member university, college, or secondary school in question.

Section 4. All individuals holding membership on commissions of the Association or serving as elected officers of the Association shall thereby become members of the Association.

Section 5. Honorary members shall be nominated by the Executive Committee and elected by the Association by a two-thirds vote of all members present and voting at any session of the Association held during the Annual Meeting. Such individuals are honorary members of the Association and not honorary members of any particular commission.

Section 6. Honorary members shall receive the NORTH CENTRAL ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY and shall have all the privileges of membership in the Association except voting.

Section 7. Honorary members, officers of the Association, and members of the commissions shall not be required to pay dues as hereinafter defined.

Section 8. Members of the Association, honorary members, individuals officially connected with a university, college, or secondary school which holds membership in the Association, and individuals who are officially connected with the state department of public instruction of a state which is included in the territory of the Association shall have the right to attend the meetings and to participate in the activities of the Association and of the various commissions. It shall be understood, however, that attendance at such meetings and participation therein shall be in accordance with the provisions of this constitution and also with the policies adopted by the various commissions and by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE IV. OFFICERS, COMMISSIONS, AND COMMITTEES

Section 1. The officers of the Association shall be a president, a vice president, a secretary, and a treasurer. The president and vice president shall be elected at the Annual Meeting of the Association for a single term of one year or until their successors are elected. The secretary and the treasurer shall be appointed by the Executive Committee. Their terms of office shall be determined by the Executive Committee.

All officers of the Association and of the commissions shall be officially and actively connected with a university, college, or secondary school which holds membership in the Association or with the state department of education of a state in the territory of the Association as defined in Article III, Section 1.

Section 2. There shall be an Executive Committee, a Commission on Colleges and Universities, a Commission on Secondary Schools, and a Commission on Research and Service, and these shall be constituted as hereinafter defined.

The Executive Committee and the various commissions of the Association shall, within the limitations imposed by the constitution of the Association, have the right to determine their own procedures and to establish rules and regulations for governing such procedures.

Section 3. The Executive Committee.

The Executive Committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools shall consist of the president, the vice president, the president of the Association during the preceding year, the treasurer, the editor of THE QUARTERLY, the chairman and the secretary of each of the commissions provided for in Article IV, Section 2, and four additional members, one of whom shall be elected each year for a term of four years. Qualifications for membership on the Executive Committee shall be the same as prescribed for officers of the Association in Article IV, Section 1.

The Executive Committee shall receive from the Commission on Colleges and Universities the list of colleges and universities recommended for membership in the Association, shall receive from the Commission on Secondary Schools the list of secondary schools recommended for membership in the Association, and shall submit them to the Association for final approval. It shall publish in the official organ of the Association, the NORTH CENTRAL ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY, the lists of universities, colleges, and secondary schools approved by the Association.

The Executive Committee shall have final authority to hear appeals from the decisions of the commissions, relative to the approval of universities, colleges and secondary schools and to determine the action to be taken upon such appeals.

The Executive Committee shall be under no obligation to a member university, college, or secondary school to consider any appeal from the decision or action taken by a commission unless such appeal is filed with the Executive Committee within thirty days following the Annual Meeting. Before taking final action on an appeal, the Executive Committee shall request the officers of the commission concerned to make a recommendation and to submit therewith all facts pertinent to the case.

The Executive Committee shall submit to the Association for election those persons nominated by the respective commissions for membership therein in accordance with the provisions of the constitution.

The Executive Committee shall determine the time and place of the Annual Meeting of the Association, prepare the programs for the meetings of the Association, approve all programs for the meetings of the various commissions, provide for the publication of reports and proceedings, and transact any necessary business. The Executive Committee shall also fill all interim vacancies in the offices of the Association, and upon recommendation of the commissions concerned shall fill interim vacancies in the membership of the various commissions.

It shall be the duty and responsibility of the Executive Committee to coordinate and publicize the work of the various commissions in such ways as to further most effectively the object of the Association.

The Executive Committee shall have the power to authorize and approve all expenditures of funds and to require each commission to submit it to a budget. The proposed budget submitted by each commission to the Executive Committee for approval shall be a complete forecast embracing (1) the program of activities, (2) the estimated receipts together with their sources, and (3) the estimated expenditure necessary to carry out the work of the commission. It shall be the duty and responsibility of the Executive Committee to approve or disapprove in advance of any commitments the proposed program of activities of each commission.

At each Annual Meeting the Executive Committee shall submit to the Association a detailed report of income and expenditures. At the close of the fiscal year the Executive Committee shall require an official audit of all Association Accounts to be made by an auditor selected by the treasurer and approved by the Executive Committee. The audited report shall be published in the NORTH CENTAL ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY.

All actions taken by the Executive Committee shall be subject to approval or revision by the Association with the exception of actions taken relative to those matters over which the Executive Committee has been given final authority.

Section 4. The Commission on Colleges and Universities.

The member colleges and universities of the Association shall be grouped according to geographic districts, the number and boundaries of the districts to be determined by the Commission. Also, the member colleges and universities shall be grouped by type of institution, the basis for the grouping to be determined by the Commission.

The Commission on Colleges and Universities shall consist of representatives of member colleges and universities elected by the Commission subject to the approval of the Association, and three representatives designated by the Commission on Secondary Schools from the membership of the Commission on Secondary Schools. Election of members of the Commission shall be in accordance with a formula adopted by the Commission which shall provide for representation by district and by type of institution. Election shall be for a period of four years, one-fourth of the members to be elected annually. Members shall not be eligible for reelection until one year has elapsed, except in the case of a member of the Executive Board who shall continue on the Commission as an added member until the expiration of his term on the Board.

The officers of the Commission on Colleges and Universities shall be a chairman, a vice chairman, and a secretary. These officers shall be elected by the Commission in accordance with its own policies and regulations. The length of term for each officer shall be determined by the Commission.

There shall be an Executive Board whose membership shall consist of the chairman of the Commission, ex officio chairman of the Executive Board; vice-chairman of the Commission, ex officio vice-chairman; and seven members of the Commission to be elected by the Commission for overlapping terms of five years each. Upon the expiration of this term no member may succeed himself. If a person who is not a member of the Commission is elected to the Executive Board he shall automatically become a member of the Commission upon election to the Board.
